

The Department of Behavioral Health (DBH) certifies a network of community-based providers to provide substance use disorder (SUD) services including detoxification, residential and outpatient services based on individual need. DBH also provides a range of prevention and recovery services. Many adults with a substance use disorder also have a mental illness. DBH supports integrated care with screening, diagnosis, and treatment for both mental and substance use disorders to treat the whole person for the best health outcomes.

To enroll in services, call or visit the DBH Assessment and Referral Center \(ARC\) or one of the community-based SUD providers listed below. SUD providers are located across the District. You can choose one that best serves your needs.
