ANNUAL REPORT

WHITMAN-WALKER HEALTH

FOR OVER 40 YEARS

Whitman-Walker Health has provided an unwavering and extraordinary commitment to the needs of the LGBTQ community and those living with HIV. Whitman-Walker was originally founded as an affirming health center for the gay and lesbian community at a time when such spaces were rare. In the early 1980s, Whitman-Walker quickly adapted to become Washington, DC's leading first responder to the AIDS epidemic, providing pioneering medical care and support services to people who were often shunned by the medical establishment.

Today, Whitman-Walker Health is a quality, inclusive health center staffed by world-class health professionals who deliver an accessible and comprehensive range of services. With our four sites in DC, we served 15,393 patients in 2015 and administered 10,009 free HIV tests. We also provide primary medical care, mental health care, addictions treatment, legal services, and many other support services.

COMMUNITIES.”

Dear Friends and Supporters:

What an amazing year for our community!

In 2015 we opened our new, state-of-the-art health center on 14th Street NW, expanded sexual health, wellness and prevention programs for DC’s youth and young adults; and we welcomed over 100 new employees to our health center family. These new additions, along with the mission-driven work that our team already does every day, offer renewed opportunities to practice our values of dignity, affirmation, and respect.

In May of 2015, we opened our new health center at 1525 14th Street, NW. The 42,000-square foot facility has six floors dedicated to patient care. The new health center enables us to expand the state-of-the-art programs and services within our clinical divisions, including medical, behavioral health, dental, HIV/STI screening, pharmacy, women’s health, and transgender health.

With its focus on sustainability and the patient experience, we are proud to share that our new health center has been publicly recognized for its overall design and construction. The health center earned LEED-certification (Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design), highlighting our commitment to use less water and energy, reduce greenhouse gas emissions, and save resources. In fact, more than 96% of construction waste was diverted to recycling plants, rather than landfills.

At our four sites in the District, including the new health center, we cared for 18,583 persons in 2015 and provided more than 106,826 service encounters to the community. We were able to provide care for 2,648 HIV-positive patients at Whitman-Walker in 2015. One hundred percent of those testing positive for HIV were moved immediately into our nationally recognized Red Carpet care and services program. We helped nearly 900 people get or keep their health insurance under the Affordable Care Act. Additionally, our Legal Services program, one of the nation’s oldest medical-legal partnerships, served 2,637 clients on 4,944 distinct legal matters.

In February of 2015, we implemented an important strategic collaboration with Metro TeenAIDS aimed at enhancing our ability to offer health and wellness programs and services to young people and their families. Metro TeenAIDS – now called Whitman-Walker Youth Services – provided 963 young people at our Eastern Market location a safe space to be themselves with programs like Floetic Fridays and Service and a Movie. Additionally, 62 LGBTQ youth who were either victims of violence or witnessed violence received mental health services free of charge through our behavioral health department.

In 2015, we published the results of a study in the Journal of the American Medical Association analyzing the real-world use of pre-exposure prophylaxis (PrEP) for HIV prevention. These results add to the growing body of evidence that PrEP is an effective, necessary, and scalable tool in the fight against HIV. We also advocated before the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services for gender identity inclusion, calling for non-discrimination by any health care provider that participates in any federal program, or receives federal funds, and any insurer that participates in any program under the Affordable Care Act.

Whitman-Walker Health would not have been successful this year without the continued support of our community, staff, donors, volunteers and allies. We are grateful for your commitment of time, talent, passion, and funding to our mission of caring for our communities. We look forward to your continued engagement in the life of our health center for many years to come.

Yours in service,

LOCATIONS

1525 – Opened in May 2015, the new 42,000-square-foot, seven-floor facility enables Whitman-Walker to carry on our commitment to the community of offering the highest quality, culturally competent services to our patients. With increased capacity in many service areas, and beautiful, welcoming spaces, the new health center was designed to address the needs of our patients now and in the future.

Max Robinson Center – Located in Anacostia, the Max Robinson Center has housed a full array of services convenient to communities east of the river since 1992. In Spring 2015, operations were expanded to increase hours, hire additional health care practitioners, and complete priority facility renovations.

Eastern Market – The Eastern Market location houses our youth services programming (previously Metro TeenAIDS), which joined Whitman-Walker Health in February 2015. Among its many health education and prevention programs, the location includes the FreeStyle Peer Education Center, a safe space where youth can be exactly who they are, without stigma or shame.

Elizabeth Taylor Medical Center – Opened in 1993 and the primary home of Whitman-Walker Health’s direct care services until this year, the Elizabeth Taylor Medical Center continues to serve patients on Tuesday and Thursday evenings for the Gay Men’s Health & Wellness/STD Clinic. The facility also houses services that were not moved to 1525, including our legal services team, public benefits and insurance navigation, and our research department, as well as WWH administration. In June, we announced plans to redevelop the site in the coming years.

HIGHLIGHTS OF OUR WORK IN 2015

Transgender Health

We served over 1,100 transgender patients in 2015 -- a 20% increase from 910 patients in 2014. Our trans population is among our fastest-growing patient groups. We are committed to providing affirming care because we recognize the unique barriers that transgender and gender expansive individuals face in seeking health services. We offer comprehensive medical, behavioral health and other supportive services critical to our trans patients, including hormone replacement therapy, individual and group support and psychotherapy, consultations for gender-affirming surgeries, aesthetic procedures, and legal name and gender marker change clinics. We view treatment as a cooperative effort between patients, their support system and community, and their providers. Our providers engage patients in a relationship that emphasizes education, self-determination, and overall wellness.

In 2015 we coordinated over 100 consultations for gender-affirming surgical procedures including hysterectomy, breast augmentation, chest reconstruction, tracheal shave, and orchiectomy. Over the course of the year, our multi-disciplinary Transgender Working Group piloted a surgical referral process involving the expertise of our medical, behavioral health, legal, and patient-engagement teams.

Policy/Advocacy

Policy and advocacy work have long been a part of what we do at Whitman-Walker Health, and in recent years we have devoted additional resources and staff to further develop our capacity in this area. The establishment of a dedicated policy department in 2015 marked an exciting new step forward for the organization. The policy department works on a range of issues important to LGBTQ health, the continuing fight against HIV, service provision to youth, and healthcare reform. We offered our expertise in supporting policy changes to extend gender-affirming surgeries to transgender persons covered by a variety of health insurances, and supported an LGBTQ cultural competency training requirement for licensed healthcare providers in DC.

Insurance Navigation

The team of 14 public benefits and insurance navigators delivered over 7,000 one-on-one-encounters in 2015, educating our patients and DC residents about their insurance coverage options. We assisted nearly 1,800 individuals in enrolling into health insurance and other benefits programs, including DC Health Link plan options and Medicaid. We also conducted 40 enrollment and outreach events in the community. Everyone on the Public Benefits and Insurance Navigation team is bilingual in either English and Spanish, or English and Amharic.

Name and Gender Change Clinic

Since its founding in 2012, our free Name and Gender Change Clinic, held 10 times a year and facilitated by our Legal Services department, has helped over 600 gender expansive clients who might otherwise be unable to navigate the process of, or afford to, change their legal name and gender markers who might otherwise be unable to navigate or afford the process of changing their legal name and gender markers on identity documents. Legal name and gender marker change is a critical step in transition that helps facilitate and ease employment, housing, travel, securing public benefits, and a host of other necessities of life that cisgender people take for granted. The Clinic operates through the generous support of trained attorneys who serve on a pro bono basis.

Pharmacy

Our ground floor pharmacy at the new 1525 14th Street, NW health center is open to the public and offers free home delivery and a curated collection of retail items. We filled an average of 250 prescriptions per day in 2015.

Legal

Whitman-Walker Health is home to one of the nation's oldest medical-legal partnerships and we are proud to offer legal services as part of our integrated approach to health care. In 2015, our lawyers and paralegals worked with 2,637 clients to remove legal barriers to health care, focusing on WWH's goal to help individuals achieve improved health outcomes and overall wellness. Recent work has centered on helping secure insurance coverage for gender-expansive care and helping LGBT asylum-seekers find safety, care, and community in their new home — the nation's capital.

Medical Adherence and Retention & Engagement

Many of the 7,790 clients who received medical care at WWH in 2015 were referred for health education and counseling in the Medical Adherence department. Our Nurse Care Managers offer support and education to clients on topics such as diabetes management and blood glucose monitoring, hormone injection teaching, treatment adherence for HIV and HCV, and monitoring of other chronic health concerns. Additionally, our Nurse Care Managers helped patients access Post Exposure Prophylaxis (PEP) to prevent HIV infection after a potential exposure, met with those who were newly diagnosed with HIV, those seeking HIV-related health care for the first time, and those returning to care after an absence. Nurse Care Managers work in partnership with our medical providers, behavioral health providers, and other support staff to ensure that patients are provided with the information needed to take the best care of themselves.

A critical component of medical adherence is ensuring that patients attend their scheduled appointments, return for follow-up care, and are linked to outside providers and supportive services. WWH created the Retention and Engagement unit to help keep clients connected to care and support inside and outside the health center. Care Navigators, Referral Coordinators, and other Retention & Engagement staff connect with providers and use internal and external data sources to help identify patients who are, or may be at risk of, falling out of care; and then offer a variety of levels of support to help patients stay engaged and navigate their healthcare.

Retention and Engagement staff range in clinical training and background, and include community health workers, health educators, a community-based organization partnership coordinator, care navigators, and engagement-focused medical providers. In October of 2015, our new Mobile Outreach Retention and Engagement (MORE) program began providing HIV medical care outside the walls of the health center. This innovative program targets some of our most vulnerable patients: those who have struggled to adhere to their HIV treatment and who face multiple barriers to accessing services within the traditional health center model. The team of health educators, medical providers, and support staff began connecting with patients in late 2015 and our first home visits began in the first days of the new year.

Substance Use Disorder Treatment

With special expertise in treatment for LGBT-identified clients, Whitman-Walker Addiction Services (WWAS) offers a continuum of programs and services aimed at helping our clients meet their individual goals around substance misuse and addiction. Services include our Intensive Outpatient treatment program, our Medication Assisted Treatment (MAT) for persons dealing with opiate dependence, group therapies for persons with co-occurring disorders, methamphetamine users, and those whose sexual and drug usage behaviors are linked, as well as individual addiction psychotherapy and DUI services. In 2015, we helped 275 patients with these services.

Peer Support

Our longstanding, volunteer-based peer counseling program, with deep roots in the AIDS buddy programs from the 1980s, served 277 patients via individual and group sessions in 2015. Peer counselors, who are trained to provide objective support and to facilitate problem-solving and decision-making, help their peers set goals for success, or just provide a listening ear. Peer counselors offer support on a range of issues including coming out, life transitions, and HIV.

NEW HEALTH CENTER AT 1525 14TH ST, NW

On May 18, Whitman-Walker Health officially opened its doors to patients at 1525 14th Street, NW. The new 42,000-square-foot facility (known simply as “1525”) has six floors wholly dedicated to patient care, including a ground floor neighborhood pharmacy open to all. With the opening of 1525, Whitman-Walker doubled its medical exam room capacity and tripled its dental program on the 14th Street, NW corridor. The expanded capacity allows Whitman-Walker to meet current and future patients’ needs in a post-Affordable Care Act marketplace.

“Today’s opening of 1525 is a tangible expression of Whitman-Walker Health’s core values of affirmation, vibrancy, dignity and respect for our patients,” said Don Blanchon, Whitman-Walker Health Executive Director, in a release announcing the opening. “The new health center is a beacon of light and hope for all who seek affirming, high-quality care in this region. It is the health center of choice for those who seek to live and work in a truly inclusive community. And it is ultimately a sanctuary where each person’s character transcends the all-too-real limitations of society’s labels. 1525 brings the promise of a new day to our patients, Whitman-Walker, and the community at large. Let the great work begin.”

The opening was covered extensively by local media outlets, including a cover story in the Washington Post Local section with the headline: “For Whitman-Walker, New Building, Same Mission.” Operating for about six months in 2015, the new building was met with an overwhelmingly positive response from patients, clients, and community members.

As one patient put it, “I feel special here. Y’all went beyond the call of duty to make us feel comfortable.” In an interview with WTOP radio about the new space, longtime Whitman-Walker patient Michael Jones said, “I’m in awe. Whitman-Walker has definitely saved my life.”

Whitman-Walker also averaged enrolling over 223 new patients per month following the opening of 1525, compared to 170 per month at the former primary clinical location, the Elizabeth Taylor Medical Center.

METRO TEENAIDS JOINS WHITMAN-WALKER HEALTH

In February, Metro TeenAIDS and Whitman-Walker Health announced that we had entered into a new strategic collaboration to provide HIV and other health and wellness programs and services to young people and their families. Metro TeenAIDS and its employees became a part of Whitman-Walker Health, bringing their youth-focused expertise to the health center. “This is an exciting new chapter in Metro TeenAIDS’ 25-year history that builds on our already strong relationship with Whitman-Walker,” said the organization’s Executive Director Adam Tenner in a news release. Metro TeenAIDS, “has always been about more than just HIV. Over the last several years we have been developing a broader agenda to address the health and wellness needs for young people in our community. HIV continues to be a critical health issue for teens. But the epidemic has evolved and we believe that we need a more holistic approach. Joining forces with Whitman-Walker will enable us to do more for the young people in our community; investing in a healthier future for everyone. Continued focus on young people’s health needs is critical.”

OUR HEALTH CENTER FAMILY IS EXPANDING TO MEET COMMUNITY NEEDS

With the opening of 1525 and Metro TeenAIDS’ employees joining Whitman-Walker in 2015, it’s no surprise that the organization hired 101 staff during the year, ending 2015 with 227 staff, compared with 169 at the end of 2014. Whitman-Walker was also once again named a Top Workplace by the Washington Post, an honor the organization received for the first time in 2014.

To Name a Few...

- › Glynette Roberts joined the staff as the new Community Health Educator with the Mobile Outreach Retention and Engagement (MORE) Team. Glynette is an alumna of both the University of Florida and Howard University. She works to engage clients in retention and care services, and educates the community on ways to improve quality of life.
- › David Facenda returned to Whitman-Walker as a psychotherapist in mental health. No stranger to WWH, David previously worked for the Behavioral Health programs as a mental health and substance abuse provider, and as manager of day treatment services. David earned his MSW at the Catholic University of America and a bachelor’s degree in engineering at Penn State.
- › Glenda Moran began this year as a Public Benefits and Insurance Navigator. She attended the University of Maryland and earned her B.S. in Community Health. Glenda assists those who are underserved in the DC metro area in accessing healthcare.

PLANS FOR ELIZABETH TAYLOR MEDICAL CENTER REDEVELOPMENT ANNOUNCED

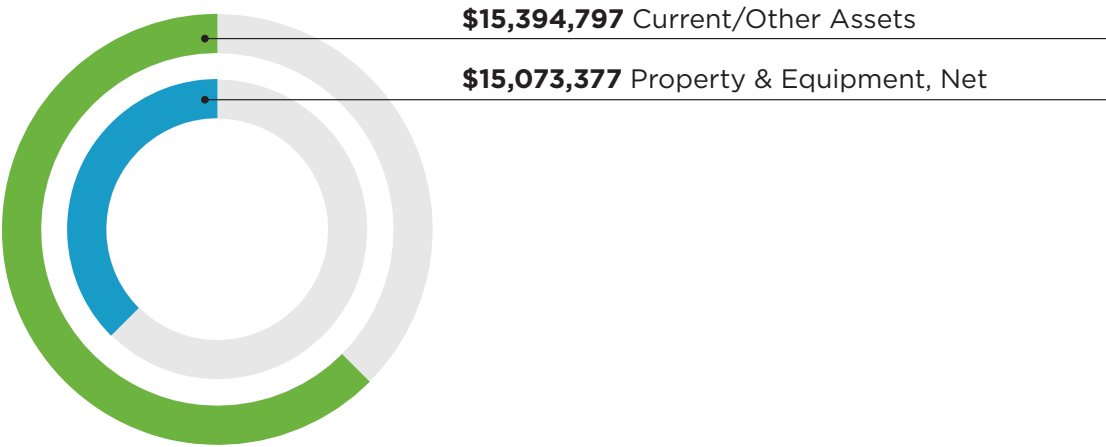

Shortly after the opening of the new health center at 1525 14th Street, NW, we announced the future redevelopment of the Elizabeth Taylor Medical Center. At the completion of a two-year planning and assessment process, WWH’s Board of Directors made a decision to redevelop the Elizabeth Taylor site with Streetscape (now known as Fivesquares Development) via a joint venture partnership model. WWH is the majority owner in the joint venture and also shares major decision-making rights with Fivesquares. In a Washington Business Journal article on the announcement, former DC planning director and Fivesquares principal Andy Altman said that because of the size of the development area for the site, “you’re not just doing a typical infill project of trying to fit a building between two other buildings. You can actually do some really creative things here that you don’t have on a normal site.”

“I’M IN AWE.
WHITMAN-WALKER
HAS DEFINITELY
SAVED MY LIFE.”

NEW HIRES

VOLUNTEER PROFILE

Peer Support is a volunteer-based program that provides both one-on-one and group counseling to LGBTQ adults and allies. Groups focus on topics such as new HIV diagnosis, long-term survivorship with HIV, coming out of marriage, older gay men, and support for transgender persons, including a group for HIV-positive, Spanish-speaking transwomen. Together, our volunteers and dedicated staff have improved the lives of both counselors and the peers they serve and helped strengthen the wider WWH community. In doing so, they have earned powerful feedback from the peers they serve. Statements like, “My peer counselor helped me get through one of the most difficult times in my life,” and “I will forever be grateful to my peer and WWH for essentially saving my life,” affirm the importance of our volunteer-based programs.

Olivia O’Neal has been a peer support volunteer since 2011. After her retirement, she came to the program with a desire to serve her community by volunteering her time. She has worked with nearly 20 peers, providing compassionate one-on-one support. Olivia attends each and every peer supervision and training opportunity and uses her experiences to help train new volunteers. Olivia has contributed to creating an atmosphere of intense generosity and profound positivity. She is a vital part of the Peer Support Program’s rich history and we are so very grateful for her service.

IN MEMORIAM

Jannette Williams’ involvement with Whitman-Walker Health began in 1980, culminating in a 35-year, pioneering relationship, both as a client and volunteer. Her service as Chairperson of the Board of Trustees from 2000-2002 and 2006-2007 was singular. She fueled positive change without fanfare or want of personal attention, believing deeply in a future where everyone has access to the affirming and respectful care and services they need to live vibrant, healthy, and productive lives.

LGBTQ life has changed considerably over the last three decades. Jannette helped shape a culture of inclusion and social diversity in our community. With that spirit, Jannette dedicated her life to advocating on behalf of the District’s lesbian community. Through Whitman-Walker’s Mautner Project, Jannette provided holistic health counseling services to LGBTQ women with cancer, and educated health care professionals about the unique health needs of the LGBTQ community at large. She served as a U.S. Department of Justice Pride member — the association of LGBTQ employees of the Department and their allies — and as a community LGBTQ advocate before the DC Council. Jannette’s kindness, compassion, friendship, and love of neighbor, expressed through her commitment to Whitman-Walker and beyond, is an exemplary model of service to and for others.

MEMORIALIZING THOSE DONORS WHO HAVE PASSED AWAY

We honor the exceptional people listed here who believed in a future where everyone has access to the affirming and respectful health care and services they need to help live vibrant, healthy, and productive lives. Their generous gifts and forethought will help create a positive and lasting difference in the lives of those in need – not only now, but for generations to come.
